INTRODUCTION

Happy holidays! As a member of our climate restoration community, we know you care about engaging thoughtfully in your holiday festivities, whether gathering at home or vacationing away. We've created this gift guide featuring companies leading the way with carbon-negative, carbon-neutral, and sustainable products and practices. This guide will help you to give gifts in the most climate-positive way possible—and don't forget to add a few to your own wish list!

CARBON NEGATIVE PRODUCTS

As you know, nearly everything we do has a carbon footprint. While most of the world is striving to reduce their carbon footprint, we invite you to be an overachiever and work to cancel yours through carbon-negative giving. The items below are either made from captured CO<sub>2</sub> or use high-quality carbon removal offsets to attain carbon-negative status.

AIR COMPANY

DESCRIPTION: Air Company is a New York-based company that utilizes captured CO<sub>2</sub>. To make their products, they take sequestered carbon dioxide through a six-stage process that includes carbon conversion and distillation. The company is still small, but they predict that once at scale, they can avoid 4.6 billion tons of CO<sub>2</sub> emissions per year. To support this unique technology company, check out their products below, and learn more about their process online here: aircompany.com/shop.

PRODUCTS: AIR Eau de Parfum is a gender-neutral fragrance made from CO<sub>2</sub>.

NEIGHBOURHOOD BOTANICALS

DESCRIPTION: This small, woman-led cosmetics and self-care brand offers a unique and truly sustainable range of products from face lotion, body oil, cleansers, and anything else you may need to look and feel your best. Most importantly, they are certified carbon negative, having offset nearly double their carbon footprint.<sup>1</sup> Beyond switching to a more sustainable packaging, they also offer plastic-free postal refills and they protect five trees with every online order.<sup>2</sup> These essentials have never been more sustainable!

SHEEP INC

DESCRIPTION: This Portuguese company describes their Merino wool-based products with the catchy phrase, “THE ONLY MATERIAL WITH TWELVE THOUSAND YEARS OF PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT.”<sup>3</sup> Sheep Inc. is unique because they use (happy) sheep’s wool for all of their products, many of which result in carbon negative products. The company also donates 3% of its yearly revenue to biodiversity projects.<sup>4</sup>

PRODUCT: The Scarf

TENZING TEA

DESCRIPTION: Tenzing is a British tea subscription company (the best kind of tea company) offering monthly or bi-monthly tea, right to your door. The best part is that the company is carbon negative<sup>5</sup>, uses zero harmful ingredients or additives<sup>6</sup>, and provides a tasty way to get energized.

PANGAIA

DESCRIPTION: Pangaia is a materials science company that takes a unique approach to designing their clothes. By employing scientists, technologists, and designers, they create minimalist wardrobe staples like sweatshirts and sweatpants using innovative tech and bio-engineered materials. All products feature their environmental impact, including the number of kgs of CO<sub>2</sub> emitted and the water used. Last year, they collaborated with Graviky Labs for a limited time, where all products used ink made from sequestered CO<sub>2</sub>.<sup>7</sup> While not all products featured are carbon-negative, they are committed to reducing their impact and will surely do similar collaborations soon.

HIGHR

DESCRIPTION: HIGHR lipstick is the first carbon-neutral lipstick, and every purchase saves 5.8 lbs of CO<sub>2</sub> compared to other brands.<sup>8</sup> The ingredients are all-natural, and their packaging is also sustainable, with metal materials over traditional plastic.<sup>9</sup> Additionally, they use 100% solar energy to produce their products.<sup>10</sup> HIGHR's goal as they continue to grow is to increase their products' circularity.<sup>11</sup>

PRODUCT: Chateau from their Universal Nude Collection

ALTER ECO

DESCRIPTION: Alter Eco is a sweet snack company that is both delicious and sustainable. Their sustainability commitment involves four pillars: organically produced non-GMO foods using regenerative farming practices, creating minimal waste with 100% recyclable, compostable, and post-consumer recycled packaging, using Fair Trade principles, "and in-setting carbon emissions by means of large-scale reforestation/conservation programs in the cooperatives that produce its crops."<sup>12</sup> They have a ton of third-party certifications from Carbon Neutral, B Corp status, Fair Trade certification, and even an certified Organic.

SUSTAINABLE COMPANIES TO SUPPORT

VEJA SNEAKER—VEGAN LINE

DESCRIPTION: A certified B-Corp, Veja is one of the most fashionable yet transparent shoe brands on the market. Since their founding in 2005, they have offered detailed insight into their raw material sourcing standards, social contributions, economic justice, and ecologically-safe materials.<sup>13,14</sup>

PRODUCT: Vegan Line

LEFRIK

DESCRIPTION: This backpack is the sustainable traveler. With enough space for clothes, a laptop, and essentials, everyone can feel ready and eco-friendly while seeing the world. Lefrik is a growing company, yet practices and certifications beat larger competitors. Their fabric is made from recycled materials certified by Global Recycled Standard, and their manufacturing processes have been vetted for ethicality by SEDEX and has passed the SMETA 4 pillars in ethical practices, as well as being a Peta-approved company.<sup>15</sup> Their goals for the coming year include being more transparent in their impact, and creating a carbon-negative line, starting with the Scout Mini Bag.<sup>16</sup>

ECOALF

DESCRIPTION: Ecoalf is a quickly growing B Corp from Spain that serves to revitalize fashion with fully recycled materials and sustainable processes. While not currently carbon neutral, they have a robust plan to reach neutrality by 2030<sup>17</sup> through transparency, continued evaluations of materials and processes, and more. They are also working in partnership with T\_Neutral, a consulting company that aims to eliminate textile waste, and to help balance the ability of for-profit companies to satisfy all of their stakeholders while also serving a greater purpose.<sup>18</sup>

KANKAN

DESCRIPTION: Kankan is a unique brand that values sustainable packaging and the circular economy. Instead of the traditional plastic packaging used by larger body wash and soap companies, Kankan ships users a reusable glass bottle while the product itself comes in a can. Both incentivize the user to be less wasteful and empower the circular economy from beginning to (a recycled) end. Check out their featured starter set below!

PRODUCT: Starter Set

SABAI

DESCRIPTION: Sabai is an interior design brand with products ranging from sofas to ottomans. Why'd they make our list? Traditional furniture production is extremely harmful to many parts of the environment, from deforestation to the overuse of water and other natural resources. Sabai seeks to disrupt this by using upcycled materials and repair services to keep each piece lasting as long as possible.<sup>19</sup> While putting a whole sofa on this list may be a bit overwhelming, a candle is always a great gift—especially if it's supporting a sustainable cause!

GIFTS FOR PETS

Since our furry friends are just a part of our families, we also wanted to highlight a few sustainable alternatives for your pup.

PETALUMA—CARBON NEUTRAL

DESCRIPTION: Who says gifts are just for us? Give your pup a healthy alternative to traditional meat-heavy dog food. Petaluma is a carbon-neutral dog food brand that provides formulated chow g using top veterinarians to design the food. They are also a certified B Corp, so you know that you're giving them the best option!<sup>20</sup>

PRODUCT: Roasted Peanut Butter & Sweet Potato Flavor Dog Food

HOUSE DOGGE—SUSTAINABLE

DESCRIPTION: House Dogge is a woman-owned company that specializes in minimalist, healthy, and sustainable dog toys and accessories. Each product is made using sustainable materials like bamboo, and utilizes recycled and upcycled materials.

PRODUCT: Wool 'Knot-Knot' Rope Toy 2.0

20 <https://www.climateutral.org/brand/petaluma>

POOCH PAPER—SUSTAINABLE

DESCRIPTION: When a product does well on Shark Tank, you know you're getting a good product. Pooch Paper offers a more sustainable alternative to plastic-heavy, single-use pet waste bags. The company has created a biodegradable and compostable alternative to traditional bags. To grab a month's supply (50 bags), click below!
